

Three Pay Fines For Having Slot Machines

Special Despatch to The Sunday Telegram

Eastport, Oct. 5—In a drive to put a stop to the operation of gambling machines in the upcounty settlements a few miles from Eastport, as the result of many complaints to the County authorities, Deputy Sheriff John W. Whalen of this city made a round up Friday of the storekeepers alleged to be violating the laws. As a result George Talbot of Perry and Jesse Blackwood and John Longmore of Pembroke were haled into court here this morning and were found guilty of the possession of slot machines. Judge Oscar L. Whalen of the Municipal Court stated that the law considers possession of these machines prima facie evidence of intent to operate the same, and imposed fines of $10 and costs amounting to $25 each, and ordered the machines confiscated. They paid and were discharged.

The machines are said to have been big dividend payers to the possessors and are valued at $125 each.

The raids are the first of a series which the county authorities state they plan to make on such machines, and they state that they believe they have evidence to convict other offenders.
