Affidavit of José Luis Pino
State of California
County of Ventura

I, José Luis Pino, residing at 1107 Evenstar Ave, Westlake Village, CA, being duly sworn or affirmed, declare and state the following:

1. I am over eighteen (18) years of age and competent to make this affidavit. The facts declared herein are based on my personal knowledge and belief.
2. I am the son of María-Luisa Gutiérrez Rexach.
3. This affidavit is made in support of my application, as well as the applications of my children and my granddaughter, for Spanish citizenship under the Law of Democratic Memory.
4. My mother, María-Luisa Gutiérrez Rexach, was married to my father, José Luis Pino-y-Torres, in Madrid, Spain, on September 6, 1967.
5. As detailed in the attached affidavits of María-Luisa Gutiérrez Rexach and José Luis Pino-y-Torres, my mother lost her Spanish citizenship as a consequence of this marriage due to a Spanish law that discriminated against married women at that time.
6. On April 4, 2025, I had a conversation with my mother regarding this loss of citizenship. I made contemporaneous notes of this conversation, which are attached hereto as Exhibit A.
7. During this conversation, my mother expressed that the loss of her Spanish citizenship has been a source of significant emotional distress and trauma for her.
 - o She stated that she lost her Spanish citizenship without her prior knowledge.
 - o She described the experience as causing "significant emotional distress" and expressed "fear of potential consequences."
 - o She indicated that her father took steps to rectify the situation.
8. My mother was hesitant to provide a separate affidavit due to the painful nature of these memories. This reluctance further demonstrates the significant emotional distress caused by the discriminatory loss of her citizenship.
9. I believe that the information contained in my notes is relevant to demonstrate the ongoing impact of the discriminatory law on my mother, even though her citizenship was eventually restored.

10. I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California and the United States that the foregoing is true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Subject: Conversation with my mother regarding losing her Spanish Citizenship when she married my father in 1967

Attendees: José Luis Pino and María-Luisa Gutiérrez Rexach

Summary of Conversation:

This note documents a phone conversation I had with my mother today concerning the history of her Spanish citizenship. This matter has been a source of significant emotional distress and trauma for her.

During the call, I learned the specific circumstances surrounding her loss and subsequent regaining of Spanish citizenship following her marriage to my father. According to my mother, she lost her Spanish citizenship without her prior knowledge. Consequently, she became a Peruvian citizen.

My maternal grandfather was reportedly extremely upset by this development and took private action to try to have the loss of citizenship reversed. Approximately seven days after my parents' marriage, my grandfather apparently intervened with a judge, and a notation reflecting my mother's desire to retain her Spanish citizenship was retroactively added to her wedding certificate.

My mother expressed that this is a deeply personal and painful memory for her and wishes to keep it private within the family. She indicated that the circumstances surrounding her Spanish citizenship caused her significant emotional distress and fear of potential consequences related to the actions taken at the time. She emphasized that she was unaware of the impending loss of her citizenship until after the fact and that her father subsequently took steps to rectify the situation.

I requested that my mother provide a signed affidavit detailing these events, particularly in the context of pursuing citizenship under the Law of Historical Memory. However, she declined this request and stated that she does not wish to discuss this matter further with me. She expressed the feeling that this request was a significant imposition and did not want to hear my reasoning regarding the importance of a paper trail and an affidavit to support a claim under the Law of Historical Memory.

During our discussion, my mother became defensive and brought up unrelated past disagreements, stating that I do not respect her feelings as justification for her refusal to provide an affidavit.

The conversation concluded after my mother indicated she wished to end the call. I subsequently sent a text message to my sister, who also intends to pursue citizenship under the Law of Historical Memory for herself and her children, hoping she might be able to persuade our mother to share this information.

This historical event and the associated trauma continue to cause my mother significant pain, particularly as she approaches 80 years of age.

I am frustrated by my inability to convey the importance of reclaiming our birthright Spanish citizenship and the desire for dual citizenship for myself, my children, and future generations.

I maintain my intention to pursue citizenship under the Law of Historical Memory. I have nearly completed the necessary forms, and the lack of an affidavit from my mother could be an obstacle.

I am personally upset by this disagreement, especially given my mother's emotional state and impending major surgery.
